

Love and Acceptance are Priceless

Vickie Mello, DO

Dear Mrs. Estelle,

I am happy to write this letter to parents of potential students of BKCS. As you know, we placed all three of our children in BKCS this year. The school and staff have provided the spiritual guidance to my children that they were missing in public school. We wanted them to know God everyday of the week, not just Sunday. The school has been a blessing to our children but also to our whole family. We have become closer in many ways, but most importantly in our devotion to God.

As a BKCS graduate, I think I took for granted the relationship that I built with God as a child. My husband and I are grateful that we were able to accept the opportunity to come back to the school and the church. As a parent, you cannot put a price on the love and acceptance that our children have felt from their teachers, the staff and the other children at BKCS.

Thank you and God bless!
